

A new Dignity and Respect Policy Launched

The University is introducing a new Dignity and Respect Policy which provides a strong and secure framework to determine how we commit as an institution to treat all of our staff, students and visitors with dignity and respect. This policy provides both a statement of how we should behave, together with a practical and clear indication of what people should do if they feel they have been treated badly.

The policy is available at <http://www.brad.ac.uk/admin/equalopp/policies/>

If you have any questions regarding the detail of the policy or processes involved then please direct these in the first instance to Kez Hayat (Acting Equality and Diversity Manager) on 3076 or k.hayat1@bradford.ac.uk OR Professor Uduak Archibong (Professor of Diversity) on 6347 or u.e.archibong@bradford.ac.uk

There will be University-wide communication over the course of March from the Equality and Diversity team, who will be working closely with Senior Managers, with regard to the implementation of the new policy, training and information sharing events. You can find out more about the policy at a briefing session. Below is the timetable for briefing on the policy.

Date and Time	Venue
Wednesday 10 th March (12noon to 1pm)	Seminar room 1, School of Health Studies
Monday 15 th March (11am to 12pm)	D1 Conference Room, Richmond Building
Tuesday 16 th March (3.30pm to 4.30pm)	Small Hall, Richmond Building
Thursday 18 th March (11am to 12pm)	H33, Richmond Building
Friday 19 th March (12pm to 1pm)	D1 Conference Room, Richmond Building
Tuesday 23 rd March (11am to 12pm)	New Boardroom, Richmond Building
Friday 26 th March (11.30am to 12.30pm)	New Boardroom, Richmond Building
Monday 29 th March (2pm to 3pm)	Crossland Room, Heaton Mount

Please book your place with Narkis Rahman by e-mail n.rahman@bradford.ac.uk