DELIVERY OF DOCUMENTS FROM THE LIBRARY

If items are available as paper in the library they will be delivered as photocopies to the address as indicated overleaf. If items are available electronically we will send you a link to the item. However, please check the library catalogue <http://catalogue.brad.ac.uk/> for the availability of electronic items before submitting request forms.

DELIVERY OF DOCUMENTS FROM THE BRITISH LIBRARY

If items are delivered from the British Library (via the Inter-library loans department) an email will be sent to your Bradford email address which will contain a link to the document.

Opening the document from the British Library

You will need Adobe Reader Version 6.0 or above on your PC. When you receive your email from the British Library it will have a link to a test document, click to open the test document and download the FileOpen Plug-in as prompted.

It is important to ensure you can open up the test document successfully before attempting to open the actual document. Make sure you are connected to the internet when you attempt to open the document.

Note: you are only allowed to access the document from the British Library secure server once. So do not click on the link if you do not intend to view the document at that time. The document will only remain accessible for 14 days, therefore if you need a permanent copy you must print it.

Note the following:

You must open the article with 14 days of the email being sent.

You can only access the article ONCE from the British Library server so if you need to see it again, either print or save a copy.

You can save the document however it will only remain accessible for the remainder of the 14 days from the date of the email and will only remain accessible on the SAME computer you originally used to open the document.

You can only print the item TWICE. The second time is allowed in case you have problems with your printer at the first attempt.

You bear the printing costs.
