Learning, Teaching and Assessment Strategy

This is the final element of the Master's degree and students determine the specific subject area in management that they want to focus on for their dissertation/project, as such it furthers students' knowledge and skills in the subject areas that are chosen by the students. Lectures and seminars relating to research methods and skills are provided, including workshops to all students at the Faculty level as well as in the City campus. The LTA strategy is designed central to achieving an independent learning and an advanced knowledge and skills develop that is unique to each student of their aspiration. The trainings are provided by lectures and practical work, both individual and group. This addresses Learning Outcome of 1 to 5.

A supervisor is allocated to each student who will mentor the students throughout the process of developing and completing their dissertation/project, supporting the independent study and learning of the student.

As the project develops, students will gain both summative and formative feedback from a member of academic staff/supervisor on their research proposal. Further formative feedback is provided while developing the research until completion of the dissertation.

Research proposal of 3000 words which is also included in the dissertation as an appendix. Maximum 12,000 word dissertation including literature review, methodology, data description, analysis, results and conclusion; but excluding references and appendices. The dissertation will also include the original research proposal as an appendix.
